

TeachingTech

TeachingTech is an online company that works with primarily adults to show the basics and uses of technology.

Information

During the COVID19 pandemic, many family, friends, and businesses struggle with understanding the usage of technology. Technology has vastly inclined in society's daily lives during the pandemic, leaving many adults conflicted on how to properly operate it. With TeachingTech, adults can properly receive help and learn how to use technology to help connect them back to social and working lifestyles.

Features

- Live chat
- Video tutorials available
- Community chat
- Personal tutoring
- Information about every type of technology
- Well trained and experienced staff

“TeachingTech allows adults to participate in their normal lives virtually, and offers tips and knowledge on how to properly work with technology”-Staff